ANTI-BULLYING WEEK

Julian's is happy to announce that we have received an award from the Anti-Bullying organization Kidscape for having taken part in their Bullying Intervention Training. Kidscape believes that all children should be able to grow up in a world free from bullying; to feel happy and safe, a belief that Julian's holds dear.

All staff members have received training in how to identify and support children who may have experienced bullying behaviour, or support those who are displaying bullying behaviour towards others. Pupils in Years 5 & 6 took part in a four week training programme which looked at the different types of bullying someone might experience, the affects, being safely assertive and importantly what to do if they are being bullied or witness someone else who is being targeted.

Anti-Bullying Week happens every year in November and its aim is to get people talking about bullying and thinking of ways that they can stop it in their schools and communities. This year Anti-Bullying Week is from Monday 17th until Friday 21st November.

'Help beat cyberbullying, one rhyme at a time'

Internet Matters is helping to raise awareness of the important issues of online respect and cyberbullying by launching an exciting competition with the Anti-Bullying Alliance. The competition is focused around Anti-Bullying Week (17-21 November 2014) with the hope of inspiring children and young people to create songs, raps or poems about online friendship in the lead up to, and during the week itself. The winners will be chosen by a panel of judges including singer Sophie Ellis-Baxtor.

Children are asked to create a two verse and one chorus song, rap or poem about being a good online friend. Your song, rap or poem can be with or without original or existing music. Entries should be in by MONDAY 24th November 2014.

The incredible primary school prize!

A visit to the school by World Champion and former Olympic and Commonwealth Champion, Christine Ohuruogu (MBE).

Christine will give an inspirational school assembly to the pupils about positivity, success and the importance of being respectful to others.

The theme for this year's Anti-Bullying Week is:

'Let's stop bullying for all'

Studies show that young people who are disabled and/or have special educational needs are more likely to be bullied than others. Nobody should experience bullying. You can help those who have been bullied feel proud and confident about who they are, and help people understand that bullying is wrong and needs to be stopped.

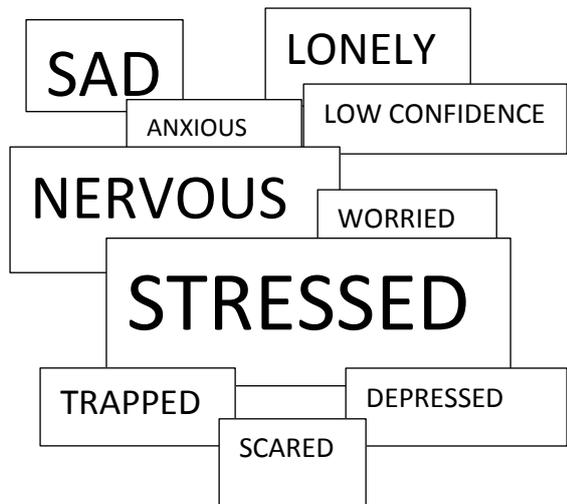

Most common types of bullying disabled young people face:

- NAME CALLING
- TEASING
- BEING INFLUENCED TO DO THINGS BY OTHERS
- RUMOURS
- BEING LAUGHED AT

Bullying can make people feel:

If you know someone who is being bullied or see someone looking lonely, brighten up their day by:

Giving them a smile. They are free and always make a person feel better!

Paying them a compliment to help boost their confidence

Asking if they are ok and letting them know you are there if they want someone to talk to

By reporting the bullying to a trusted adult or friend

If you are being bullied please remember to never suffer in silence. Childline is here for you whenever you need to talk:

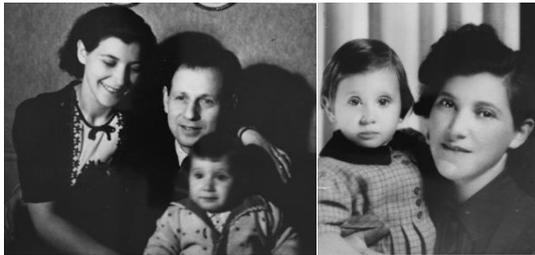

Childline is the UK's free confidential helpline for children and young people. Childline is open 24 hours to give you advice. Call them on 0800 1111 or visit www.childline.org.uk

Visitors to school

On Friday 14th November we had a very special visitor – Evi Blaikie. She lived at the Jewish orphanage following the end of the 2nd World War and visited the school as part of a documentary which is being filmed in America and Europe about the “hidden children”.

Evi Blaikie (néé Weisz) was born in Paris to Hungarian Jewish immigrant parents less than a year before the outbreak of World War II. After the Germans overran Paris in 1940, her father Hermann, a member of the Communist party, went underground. Soon after, her mother, Magda was caught in a raid and sent to a slave labour camp. At two and a half years old, Evi was taken to Hungary by an aunt, under her cousin's passport.

Evi Weisz in Budapest in 1943.

Two years later, Magda, Evi's mother, managed to escape from the camp and was reunited with Evi in Budapest just a few months before the Germans marched into Hungary on March 19th 1944. With false papers, Magda, Evi and Magda's nephew, Peter, sought refuge on a farm in Trans-Danubia. After a harrowing year in hiding they were liberated by the Soviet army - only to find that several members of the family had disappeared, including Evi's father. In January 1946, Magda and Evi returned to Paris as destitute refugees.

For the next ten years, Magda, who never recovered her health, attempted to put their lives back together while Evi lived in orphanages, a Catholic convent, foster homes and with various family members in France and England. Evi lived in the Jewish orphanage in West Norwood during this time and was known as Juliette. The matron apparently asked Evi what her name was when she arrived at the orphanage. When she heard that her name was Evelyn the matron stated that they already had two Evelyns and one more would be confusing so she was always known as Juliette which was her middle name! Evi later went to St. Martins school for girls and then went on to study languages at the University of Vienna in Austria.

Mark Sargeant

On Friday 14th November we were treated to a Ready Steady Cook session in school with celebrity chef Mark

Sargeant. Year 3s from both the Streatham and Norwood sites were invited to watch Jason from ISS and Sarah Wilson on the green team and Mark and Becky on the red team competing against the clock to create wonderful dishes from a range of ingredients.

Representatives from each of the classes were selected as official tasters and all of the children then had the opportunity to take part in a vote for the team who produced the best and most tasty dishes! The winning team was the red team from WEST NORWOOD!

Becky commented~

What an exciting morning! I worked with Mark Sargeant to prepare and serve 3 amazing dishes – a Goan turkey, aubergine and chick pea curry, pan fried salmon with stir fried noodles and Asian style broccoli, and an amazing caramelized apple dish served with a sweet lemon, coriander and yoghurt sauce, Yum! The children really enjoyed smelling the different spices and cheering Sarah and I on – helping us through paper cuts and the barked orders from the chefs! Sarah says it was a fix but the proof, so they say, is in the eating and my dishes were truly delicious 😊

From the Streatham point of view, we enjoyed the morning very much -even though the outcome was a fix!. The children were really pleased to have the opportunity to visit West Norwood and participate (even though it was never going to be fair). Jason and I made two wonderful savoury dishes - salmon and spicy noodles, chicken and pea curry & rice. We also managed a lovely dessert, in spite of the power failure!. Becky and I had lots of fun, good food to eat and the children were hugely entertained!
